Love this! I've been wanting a kid friendly way to incorporate daily Bible reading (let's face it, the Bible is full of things I'd rather not explain to my 5 & 7 yr olds right now). This is something we can do as a family or that my oldest strong reader can do independently. I like that it's versatile enough for any Christian, leaving specific doctrinal beliefs for parents to interject.

We have a few kids devotional books and this is my favorite one to read to the kids. It's enjoyable for everyone including me. I read the scripture from our Bible, the version we prefer. I attached a photo so you can see how they are.

This devotional book is wonderful. There is scripture, explanations and fun facts that keep the kids interested. I enjoy reading it for myself. In fact, I bought myself a copy so that I would know what devotion my grandsons had read that day. Very Good!!

My 3 and 5 year old are engaged enough, I think it will be just a little more ideal for kids ages 7-12. I had the kids version of Jesus Calling before this but did not like that the author made it as if Jesus was talking even though it was words made up by the author. Especially since I was reading it to them it was confusing for them, so I just made it 3rd person as I read so it was cumbersome. As far as content for this one, like the adult daily bread it offers recommended Bible readings to go along with the devotional and I like that we have been reading for about a month and will be keeping this one for our kids devotional time for sure

It's a nice book for my children. I was looking for a "daily bread" for them, and I like that they've simplified the stories to make it relevant for children. It's a good mix of scripture and application to daily life. The fun fact at the bottom always makes the read more interesting.

This is a wonderful children's devotional. My 6 year old loves it. She finds it challenging each day and is always excited about looking up the scripture verses. Each page is very colorful and esthetically engaging which is the main attraction for her.

These are very well-written, kid friendly devotions. They take only a few minutes to read, but they are packed with great truths that the kids can understand. I read them to the kids while they eat breakfast in the morning. We all enjoy this book. I love how it places a lot of emphasis on kids and their relationship with God. This is better than any other devotional I have ever gotten for my kids. It is written in a fun way with vocabulary that kids can comprehend. Each day has a "fun fact" that the kids look forward to also. Very well worth the money.

I absolutely love this book. It is a wonderful way to discuss God with children. It emphasizes a personal relationship with God rather than just scripture memorization. Don't forget the accompanying coloring book. I cannot emphasize enough how wonderful the writing is in this book. Its written perfectly for little ones to understand and to grasp their attention. Each "lesson" is just a few minutes, but can spring to life further activities to bring home the lesson.
