School Of The Prophets: Advanced Training For Prophetic Ministry

Synopsis

The Essential Guide for Prophets Mining from years on the frontlines of prophetic ministry, and overseeing the internationally renowned Bethel School of Supernatural Ministry, bestselling author Kris Vallotton takes you deep into the heart of one of the most crucial, compelling and controversial topics today: the office of prophet. In this definitive guide, Kris offers often-neglected foundational teaching and provides critical advanced training, including how to

- discern your calling and grow in your gift
- define your divinely appointed sphere of influence and depth of authority
- recognize the six different types of prophets--and how to deal with false ones
- navigate potential relational difficulties as you step into your gifting
- understand the complex ways God communicates
- prepare for the common, but dangerous, spiritual attacks prophets face

Vallotton offers a balanced view of not only what modern-day prophets are, but also what they are not. You will come away empowered and equipped with the knowledge and skills needed for this beautiful, vital, supernatural ministry.

"The New Testament of Jesus Christ is a message of faith, hope and love. It is called the Good News. My friend and colleague Kris Vallotton is one of the best in the prophetic community to help shape, teach and model these 'Good News Prophets.' Thanks for honoring my generation's pioneering work and picking up the baton and carrying it forth!"--Dr. James Goll, founder, Encounters Network, Prayer Storm and GET eSchool; author, The Seer, The Lifestyle of a Prophet, Praying for Israel's Destiny and many more

"I love this book! As a person passionate to see the most desired gift in the New Testament (see 1 Corinthians 14:1) flourish all over the world, I would recommend this book wholesale. It clearly and biblically describes how to function in the New Testament gift of prophecy and articulates various kinds of biblical prophets. If one heeds its principles, it will give greater understanding and produce higher levels of maturity in prophetic ministry. 'I wish that all the Lord's people were prophets' (Numbers 11:29 niv) and that they all read Kris Vallotton's great book School of the Prophets."--Stacey Campbell, founder, Canadian Prophetic Council; author, Ecstatic Prophecy

"Kris Vallotton's book reminds us that the heart of prophecy should be God's heart to build up, encourage and speak life. God sees the greatness over our lives, and our desire should be to see each other as He does. Kris goes through strategic and important teaching about prophecy versus the office of prophet, specifically in the context of the Church. I highly recommend this book and pray that it helps you to understand the prophetic and to 'call the gold' out of those around you. Our whole family has been uplifted in a powerful way through our deep friendship with this amazing man."--Heidi Baker, Ph.D.; co-founder and director, Iris Global

For close to twenty years I have been perusing my calling as a prophet of the Lord. I devour many books on the prophetic and they all have their place in my growth and maturity, but this book I feel is very healthy and useful for people who feel they are called to the office of prophet. So many young and inexperienced prophets have no idea of what a New Covenant prophet actually looks like and this lack of knowledge and understanding can wreak so much havoc on people, churches and countries.Kris, through humility in using his own story, and by proper use of scripture not only shows what a New covenant prophet is, but does it in such an easy to understand way in conversational English.Kris goes on to speak about 6 types of prophets that influence nations and from these perhaps you can see where you fit, if at all. He goes on to give some invaluable insight and tips how to conduct yourself when meeting leaders and people in authority. It is well worth the purchase price and is very very awesome. With love Matthew Robert Payne Author of The Prophetic Supernatural Experience and 6 other books on

This is a well written book on the subject. The author is up front in that he understands there are various expressions of prophetic ministry around today. He clearly states this by stating he is simply sharing insights he has personally learned and that he wanted to make it clear this was not the final word on prophets or prophetesses, nor is it the only view on the subject that people should embrace. He does however begin to distinguish how New Covenant Prophets function compared to Old Covenant Prophets. This distinction is what makes this book such a gem. (This does not mean we cannot learn or value some qualities of Old Covenant Prophets, it simply means there is a New Covenant now that is founded upon better promises and a better way of doing things.) What many fail to realize surrounding this subject is the different ages or eras in the Biblical timeline. Let me explain this so you understand why the author's book is so important for our day. In Jesus day, He was born into a time where, by the end of his generation, the Old Covenant was going to be made obsolete. This Old Covenant age then was disappearing (Heb 8:13) and Jesus made it clear that the destruction of the temple in Jerusalem would be one of the final signs this Old Covenant was done away with for good, as He was usher in the New Covenant based upon what He was calling the Kingdom of God (Gods rule with man, see Luke 12:32). We further see in the pages of Scripture and history that He was teaching a new way of understanding God and life. He was bringing a Kingdom to a world devoid of understanding the nature of God and His will for the earth and into a world where a dysfunctional covenant was about to be removed (Dysfunctional because of people not because of God). This is why he talked so much about the Kingdom of God and how it would be established in His generation and why He and his followers were to proclaim it was at hand (Mark 1:15). We know this because Jesus continually taught on the Kingdom reality and He would say things like, You have heard it said, but I tell you, or Be careful of the reasoning of the religious leaders or The Kingdom of Heaven is like or Truly some of you standing here will not taste death until you see the Son of Man coming into His Kingdom or It is the Fathers good pleasure to give you the Kingdom. This understanding of the transition out of the Old Covenant and into the New is the very foundation upon which Jesus was building a people of God who would function in different gifts and offices, which brings us to the New Covenant Prophet. It is here where the author so brilliantly begins to give insight into the core values of the Kingdom that launch a person called to be a prophet or prophetess into a better understanding of how they are to function and operate in this New Covenant age. There are countless little points the author makes that will help people discern their callings, spheres of influence, the diversity of prophets, the difference between prophets and people who simply give prophecy and other topics that bring you into a deeper understanding of prophetic ministry. So it is with this understanding that I highly recommend this book and just as the author has stated, I don't need this to be the definitive work on the subject but I do think it is a highly valuable book that will give people great insight and context surrounding the subject. It will empower and help mature prophetic communities, while adding to the growing understanding of the New Covenant prophetic ministry that is powerfully changing the world through those who embrace it.

In a culture that often seems permeated by a spirit of despair and hopelessness, Kris Vallotton's voice has emerged as a beacon of hope, prophetically drawing people to the truth of Christ and the loving relationship God desires to have with us. "School of the Prophets" is another engaging read from his talented pen, providing guidance to all who would seek to use their prophetic gifting to encourage people to go deeper with God. I greatly appreciated the way in which he shares so candidly from his own experiences, such as when he shares about the time he was so uncertain about the prophetic word he shared to the pastoral staff at Bethel that he spent the service lying on the floor with his head under a chair! His transparent honesty about his own past struggles are very refreshing, and provide an environment where anyone seeking to walk in the prophetic gift can embrace the calling with the recognition that mistakes may be made along the way, but that God is bigger than those mistakes. Kris offers a lot of wisdom, and there are definitely things in this book that will challenge your way of thinking. Whether you agree with all that he offers or not, you will walk away with a greater understanding of the prophetic voice needed in our churches today, one that should be focused on encouraging and raising up people to realize their God-given calling, and not focus on a message of judgement and wrath (as has so often been the case with prophetic ministries). Whether you are someone wanting a solid understanding of the gift of prophecy or are seeking to deepen their gifting, "School of the Prophets" is a worthwhile read. I award it a solid rating of 4 out of 5 stars. Book has been provided courtesy of Baker Publishing Group and Graf-Martin Communications, Inc.
